

JoVE: Science Education
Perspectives on Sensation and Perception
--Manuscript Draft--

Manuscript Number:	10321
Full Title:	Perspectives on Sensation and Perception
Article Type:	Manuscript
Section/Category:	Manuscript Submission
Corresponding Author:	Jonathan Flombaum UNITED STATES
Corresponding Author Secondary Information:
Corresponding Author's Institution:
Corresponding Author's Secondary Institution:
First Author:	Jonathan Flombaum
First Author Secondary Information:
Order of Authors:	Jonathan Flombaum
Order of Authors Secondary Information:

SciEd: Psychology—Sensation and Perception

Questions for Jonathan Flombaum

- 1) Briefly describe the significance of the field of Sensation and Perception. Why is it important? Please also touch upon the distinction between the two (sensation and perception).
- 2) What are some of the challenges of teaching topics within Sensation and Perception? How does this collection of videos help to overcome such challenges?
- 3) This collection contains several illusions. Please explain the role they play in Sensation and Perception and with teaching concepts in this field.
- 4) This field has a rich history. Explain why some of the principles discovered in the 19th century are relevant today. How are these discoveries practically applied today?
- 5) What are the key questions being addressed in this field today? What does the future hold for Sensation and Perception?