

Thank you for your message - it was sent on to PNAS Permissions for handling. You can contact PNASpermissions@nas.edu with any future permissions requests.

Authors do not need to obtain permission for the following uses of material they have published in PNAS: (1) to use their original figures or tables in their future works; (2) to make copies of their papers for their own personal use, including classroom use, or for the personal use of colleagues, provided those copies are not for sale and are not distributed in a systematic way; (3) to include their papers as part of their dissertations; or (4) to use all or part of their articles in printed compilations of their own works.

Please cite the original PNAS article in full when re-using the material. Because this material published after 2008, a copyright note is not needed. Feel free to contact us with any additional questions you might have.
