Dear Mr Myers,

Thank you for the invitation to publish our work in JOVE. Herewith, we would like to submit our manuscript entitled 'A novel method for rapid fluorescence-based characterization of single extracellular vesicles in human blood as an original article.

In January 2015, we already published the manuscript "An Innovative Method for Exosome Quantification and Size Measurement in your journal which gained a lot of attention in the world of science and reached more than 15.000 views and as of yet 23 citations.

The protocol that is presented addresses the common problem of many researchers in this field and provides the complete workflow for rapid isolation of extracellular vesicles from whole blood and characterization of specific markers by fluorescence-based nanoparticle-tracking analysis.

We confirm that this manuscript has not been published elsewhere and is not under consideration by another journal. All authors have approved the manuscript and agree with submission.

We hope that our work will find the interest of the editorial office and meet the high standards of JOVE.
