Dear Patricia Legler

Thank you for your email.

Please note that, as one of the Authors of this article, you retain the right to reuse portion or excerpts in a new work. You do not require formal permission to do so.

For full details of your rights as a Journal Author, please visit: <https://www.elsevier.com/about/our-business/policies/copyright>

I'd like to inform you that in your proposed publication please state that the figures are reprinted with permission from Elsevier and any readers of your publication would be required to contact Elsevier for permission to reuse them as Elsevier owns the copyright.

Please feel free to contact me if you have any queries.

Kind regards

Anita

Hi,

I would like to re-publish one of my figures from my paper (which is open access) in another journal.

Can I get permission to do this?

Pat

Dear Dr. Legler,

Article reference: AVR4465

Thank you for your enquiry.

I understand that you would like to reuse some of your figures.

I can confirm that that authors can use their articles, in full or in part, for a wide range of scholarly, non-commercial purposes one of which is inclusion in a thesis or dissertation. See the following link for further information on this <https://www.elsevier.com/about/our-business/policies/copyright/personal-use> <<https://www.elsevier.com/about/our-business/policies/copyright/personal-use>>

As you will be able to see from the above link, our policy is to allow authors to use their work in their thesis or dissertation (provided that this is not to be published commercially).

If you require further clarification please contact permissions@elsevier.com <<mailto:permissions@elsevier.com>> who is best positioned to assist you.

Kind regards,
