

Hello:

Thank you for another review of our manuscript, JoVE61708R1 "Incremental temperature changes for maximal breeding and spawning in Astyanax mexicanus" We have addressed all of your editorial points using blue type in the revised manuscript and in the answers to your points listed below.

1. There is some previously published text that must be revised. Please see the sections highlighted in red in the attached manuscript.

We have completely revised these sections of the manuscript discussing the same points in different ways. Please see lines 31-32, 48-57, and 343-344.

2. In the protocol, are there any time considerations for the actions performed? If so, please specify what time in the day the protocol steps performed?

We have added time considerations in the places of the protocol in which they are relevant. Please see lines 146, 156, 162, and 197.

Also, regarding your comment on line 355:

We have changed the mention of "NetSoak".

Sincerely yours,

William R. Jeffery
